"QUEEN ALEXANDRA" (HT, 1918). Gold Medal N.R.S.

A new rose of great promise; colour vermilion, richly shaded old gold on reverse of petals; flower full and of fine form, with the habit of a perfect bedding rose, free and even branching growth; foliage deep glossy green, practically proof from mildew; a perpetual flowering variety with a delightfully refreshing, fruit-like perfume. It is perfectly true to say that this rose, to the average person, is the most striking and attractive of all; the brilliant vermilion and rich gold are so vividly contrasted. Strong open-ground plants, 2 6; Standards, 5/-
